Hardly a car on the highway
 And hardly a light on the road
 Just the ruby shine of coyote eyes
 And the midnight stars all aglow
 Cassiopeia...

Somewhere east of Othello
 I saw her black velvet gown
 Strewn with thousands of rhinestones
 And the North Star there in her crown
 Cassiopeia...

Orion is the bold hunter
 A sword of three stars he does bear
 He beckons the lady to come to his side,
 "Your Majesty, rise from your chair"
 Cassiopeia...
